BADLY INJURED IN ACCIDENT

WILLIAM SHAFFER, AGE 8 YEARS, WHO IS VISITING MR. AND MRS. FRANK DAY, WHO LIVE NEAR FILLMORE, FALLS FROM LOFT AND SUSTAINS BROKEN LEG.

OCCURS THIS MORNING

William Shaffer, eight years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Shaffer, of Louisville Ky. was painfully injured in a fall from a loft of a barn at the home of Frank Day, near Fillmore, at near 10 o'clock Monday morning. His right leg is broken between the knee and the thigh and he is bruised about the body. It is feared that he is internally injured. Dr. Tucker was called and dressed the lad's injuries.

The injured boy is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Frank Day, and Monday morning, together with other children, was playing in the hay loft. The lad got to near the trap door in the hay loft and fell through the opening. He fell a distance of about eight feet and landed on a plow. The child's screams soon brought the elder members of the family to the scene and he was carried into Mr. and Mrs. Day's home. He is resting better this afternoon.

THOSE BOGUS $20 BILLS APPEAR AT TERRE HAUTE.

Several days ago the Herald warned its readers of some fake $20 bills being circulated. It seems that the bills are making evidence in towns near here from the following taken from the Terre Haute Tribune:

"Edward Messick cashier in the office of County Treasurer James M. Bolton, proved himself a money expert Saturday when Peter Frisz, a north Thirteenth st., saloonkeeper, appeared at the window of Mr. Messick at the court house and deposited $125 in currency for the payment of his semi-annual liquor license fees. In counting the money Mr. Messick discovered a raised $20 bill and handed it back to the saloonkeeper, who found that the bill had been raised from a note.

Another saloonkeeper from the east end of the city appeared at the same office Friday afternoon and had a similar raised bill. This man remembered that he had taken in the money on the day "Buffalo Bill" was here, and it is believed the bills were passed by crooks who folk the show."

FINDS "VERMIN" IN COTTON.

State Laboratory Head Gets Many Odd Samples For Diagnosis.

Dr. J. P. Simonds, superintendent of the laboratory of hygiene of the State Board of Health, receives specimens of human ailments from all parts of Indiana and is expected to diagnose the diseases. He also receives other things. Recently a physician from Roachdale sent to the laboratory a vial containing a great mass of white, fuzzy pellets, which he declares had been afflicting a patient. The letter accompanying the vial asserted that this "vermin" had caused the patient in question countless sleepless nights. Dr. Simonds immediately was interested. He investigated the "vermin" closely. Then he turned on the highest power of his microscopes and did some more investigating. The "vermin" was composed of wads of cotton, rolled into fuzzy globules from cotton sheets on which the patient had slept.

PEACE IS DISTURBED.

The dignified peace between the landlord and the renter was disturbed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Cox, who live on a farm owned by John Swartz just south of Cloverdale, early Monday morning. According to the statements of one of the participants, the trouble started between Mrs. Cox and Mr. Swartz. Swartz makes his home with Mr. and Mrs. Cox. Monday morning, according to the participant's story, Mrs. Cox and Swartz got in a dispute as to whether or not a cow had knocked a lid off a barrel. Finally the argument got warm and to decide, Swartz hit the woman over the head with a chair, it is said. She then proceeded to catch him and pull both his whiskers and hair. An affidavit probably will be sworn out tomorrow morning for the arrest of one of the persons.

EXPENSIVE TRUST BUSTING.

Fifty-nine thousand dollars was the amount paid Frank B. Kellogg the Republican trust-buster, by the government, between 1907 and 1911. It is believed that Kellogg received as much, if not more, from the trusts. It was developed before the Stanley committee that in one instance he received fees from the steel trust while being paid by the government to prosecute its friend and ally, the oil trust. J. B. McReynolds, another "trust-buster" received $64,000 from public treasury for his service in the tobacco and coal-carrying railroad cases. In all the Republicans spent more than $3,000,000 in ten years for "trust-busting" and the trusts are still with us.

AN INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL BENEFIT

AIR DOME MANAGEMENT WILL GIVE HALF OF TOMORROW NIGHT'S PROCEEDS TOWARD TEACHING THE POOR CHILDREN—UNDER AUSPICES OF CRESCENT CLUB.

MUCH GOOD BEING DONE

The management of the Air Dome, under the auspices of the Crescent Club, will give a "benefit" performance, tomorrow evening for the benefit of the Industrial School. The management of the Air Dome has agreed to give fifty per cent. of the proceeds to the club, to be given by it to the school. Several of the other clubs of the city are planning to hold socials and sales for the benefit of the school.

The Industrial School already is doing much good. On each Wednesday afternoon a class of girls are taught the rudiments of sewing. On last Wednesday more than twenty-five girls were in the class. Five of the town women acted as instructors. On Saturday afternoons a class of boys are taught carpentry and other trades. Two experienced carpenters are employed to help the women teach the lads the two trades.

It is the intention to teach the girls cooking in the near future. However, at present the school's cooking utensils are not numerous and the stock will have to be enlarged before this can be taken up. There is a stove and tables and chairs already at the house. The Needle Work Club has been serving lunch to the pupils for the past few weeks.

DEPAUW FACULTY MEMBER TO WED FORMER TEACHER

The Portland Oregon newspapers of Sunday, announced the engagement of Prof. Rufus von KleinSmid, member of the DePauw faculty, and Miss Elizabeth Patterson Sawyers, of Portland, formerly a member of the DePauw Music School faculty. The wedding is to occur early in September.

RURAL ROUTE CARRIERS NOW GET $1,000 A YEAR.

Postmaster Lockridge has received official notification from the post-office department that the salary of the Greencastle Rural Route carriers has been raised from $900 to $1,000 a year. The raise in salary takes effect beginning July 1.

AN "IMPARTIAL" INVESTIGATOR

G. W. Burton special agent of the tariff board who is now traveling in Europe gathering "exact information" to be used as the basis of tariff revision by the Republicans, is an Aldrich standpatter on the tariff question, and was undoubtedly selected because of this qualification. Burton, on the side, has been writing letters back for publication in the Los Angeles Daily Times, a high protectionist paper. This "impartial" investigator, gathering "exact information," in a recent letter declared that: Your tariff revision demand fellow Americans, is a bad. In another letter, exhorting the whole tariff revision suggestion, this "impartial" investigator made this judicial and carefully weighed observation. The merchants of our country who are so invidiously shouting for lower duties in order to get the cost of living reduced, should stop making so much noise until they learn what they are talking about." All of which is interesting in view of the fact President Taft insists Congress should not touch the iniquitous Payne-Aldrich rates until the "impartial" investigator, G. W. Burton has told it what it ought to do.

Rev. Rudy has returned from a two weeks' business trip in Chicago.

THE UNION SERVICE SUNDAY NIGHT.

An audience which filled the assembly room of the court house Sunday night listened with intense interest to "Rev. E. G. Shouse's sermon upon "Footmen and Horses." The text was Jer: 12:5, "If thou hast run with the footmen and they have wearied thee, then how canst thou contend with horses?" Mr. Shouse suggested that the "footmen" might illustrate the things of time and the "horses" the things of eternity. "There are several kinds of 'footmen' that we must run with—the daily responsibilities of life, temptations and sorrows. Many go down before these and are not able to contend with them in the race of life. In the closing part of the sermon the speaker described the four horses in one of John's visions in Revelation, 6th chapter. The first of these horses, the white horse, sat One who went forth conquering, and to conquer." He that sat on the red horse had power take peace from the earth. On the black horse sat One with the balances in his hand. He that sat on the pale horse was "Death and hell followed him." But Christ has the keys of hell and of death. Come to Christ. He has power to forgive and save."

In the early part of the service Messrs. Smith and Landes played "Let the lower lights be burning," upon cornets. Mr. S. J. Wilton conducted a spirited song service. Rev. J. M. Rudy will preach next Sunday night in the union service.

TO SUE STONE FOR DAMAGES

IT IS SAID THAT JESSE MANIS WILL SEEK TO GET $1,000 FROM POLICEMAN AS RESULT OF SEARCH WARRANT EXECUTED SATURDAY AFTERNOON.

HAS RETAINED ATTORNEY

It is said that a suit will be filed in the Circuit Court by Jesse Manis against Policeman Arthur Stone for damages, as a result of the search for liquor made in Manis's residence Saturday afternoon. John H. James, attorney for Manis, stated Monday afternoon that the suit probably would be filed either late this evening or tomorrow morning. Saturday afternoon Policeman Stone swore out a warrant to search the home of Manis on the grounds that he believed liquor was being sold there. Stone and Marshal Johns went to Manis's home and searched the house but found nothing but several cases of pop and "dry" beer.

Mr. James states that the suit will be filed on the charge that Policeman Stone maliciously and without due cause swore out a warrant for the searching of Manis's home and did search it, and that by doing this, Manis's reputation has been injured. Mr. James said that $1,000 damages will be asked. Another case in which it is said that the city officers will be sued is the case of Ura Todd. Mr. James is also attorney for Todd. Mr. James says that if the suit is filed by Todd that it will be filed against Marshal Johns and that the charge will be false imprisonment and assault.

WATCHES STOLEN FROM FARM HOUSE

STRANGE NEGRO GETS JEWELRY AND MONEY BELONGING TO MR. AND MRS. CHARLEY GARDNER, WHO LIVE ON TOM HALTON'S PLACE, EAST OF TOWN, SUNDAY AFTERNOON.

ESCAPED ON TRACTION CAR

Two gold watches and between $4 and $5 in money were stolen from Mr. and Mrs. Charley Gardner, who live on the Thomas Halton place about 4 miles east of town, presumably by a negro, at near 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon. The house was ransacked by the thief, drawers being pulled from all of the dressers and everything left in disorder. The watches and money were taken from a bureau drawer.

Mr. and Mrs. Gardner were at the Charley Broadstreet farm, just across the road, visiting neighbors, when their house was robbed. It is presumed that two negroes, who were seen in the neighborhood during the afternoon, and who went to the Broadstreet farm and asked for something to eat, while Mr. and Mrs. Gardner were there, were the men who robbed the house.

The two negroes were seen by several farmers living along the Washington street pike during the afternoon. Shortly after noon they stopped at the home of James Bridges, just east of town, and asked for something to eat. There they were given a lunch. Mr. Bridges stated that they were nice appearing negroes, but strangers to him.

They then proceeded east and stopped at several other farm houses where they asked for something to eat. While Mr. and Mrs. Gardner were at the Broadstreet farm one of the negroes stopped there. It is probable that his partner was at the Gardner home at the time.

A short time later, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Halton drove to their farm Mr. and Mrs. Gardner had seen them drive up in the auto and went over to see them. When they arrived at the home they found that it had been robbed. The strange negroes were immediately thought of and a search for them began. Mr. Halton drove east in his car in an attempt to locate them.

The 5:11 eastbound interurban car was stopped, but the negroes were not on it. This morning, Mr. Halton learned that the men had taken the 4:11 car east, having boarded it at the McNary stop, which is just east of the farm. Indianapolis officers were notified to be on the lookout for the men and the pawn shops will be closely watched in an effort to catch the thieves. It is believed that they will attempt to pawn the watches in Indianapolis.

WRECK ON MONON

The morning north-bound passenger train on the Monon was delayed about two miles south of Putnamville for almost two hours Monday morning, by a small freight wreck. A car loaded with stone on a north-bound freight train broke down at that point south of Putnamville and it was near two hours before traffic could be resumed. However, little damages were done and nobody was injured.

Logan Hill, of this city, was arrested in Brazil Friday night on the charge of intoxication. He was fined $12.10 and being unable to pay the fine, was sent to jail.

The case of Ura Todd, charged with intoxication and assault which was set for trial in the mayor's court Monday morning, is again continued. Mayor Miller ordered the case continued indefinitely. Todd is the man who got in an argument with Marshal Johns on the Fourth of July over the shooting of a cap cane. The case was set for trial on last Monday but was continued until this morning. This morning it was again continued.

SOMETHING OF A CHANGE

Hereafter it will not be in order to talk of the torrid weather of the month of July—the record is broken and Sunday night made plain the fact that this section of Indiana will do to bank on as a cool summer resort. Only a few days since the thermometer was making a regular daily showing of 100 above or thereabouts, in the shade. Monday morning at 6 o'clock the thermometer reading was only 50 above, and on Sunday afternoon, although the reading was not so low, there was a distinctive coolness that called for heavy clothing.

CHICKENS COMING HOME TO ROOST.

For many years the government paid a handsome rental for the use of the Union building in Washington. It develops now that one of the principal owners of the building is a daughter-in-law of Senator Hale, and that Senator Hale had inserted in the Senate appropriation bill an item which compelled the government to lease the building. Senator Hale also caused millions of dollars of public money to be expended on a naval shore station on the coast of Maine, the bulk of which expenditure was sheer waste. The principal mission this year performed was to provide a place for Senator Hale's political henchmen. Nor was that all. While Senator Hale was in the exercise of almost unlimited power in the Senate as chairman of the appropriation committee, his son, Frederick Hale, secretly received a fee of $5,000 out of the secret service fund for alleged diplomatic labors in helping to fix a Canadian boundary line. No one can find out what young Hale actually did to earn this $5,000. These and other acts of Mr. Hale while he was senator justify the demand that he be given a chance to explain. Perhaps he will demand it in justice to himself. If modesty restrains him, the opportunity may be forced upon him by one of the House investigating committees.

DEPUTY SHERIFF KELLEY ARRESTS FORMER BELLE UNION MAN AT HOME OF HIS GRANDFATHER IN MORGAN COUNTY—TWO CHARGES AGAINST HIM.

IN JUSTICE FRANK'S COURT

Orvil C. Anderson, whom it will be remembered, caused much excitement near Belle Union on the night of June 20, by going to his home in an intoxicated condition, beating his wife and threatening her life, was arrested at near 5 o'clock Sunday morning by Deputy Sheriff Mike Kelley at the home of his grandfather in Morgan county. He was brought to Greencastle.

The day after the assault Deputy Kelley went to Anderson's home to arrest him, but he was in such a bad condition he could not be brought to town. At that time he stated that he had been run over by an automobile.

Anderson was taken before Squire Frank and fined $5 and costs for intoxication and $1 and costs for assault. He paid the fines and returned to his home. Soon after the assault, Anderson moved from Putnam county into Morgan county, and the officers were unable to arrest him until Sunday.

GIRL FINDS BODY OF MAN IN POND.

ROCKVILLE, Ind. July 16.—Discovering the sleeve of a man's coat floating about on a mill pond, about 7:30 o'clock this morning, Cleo Bradburn, 12 years old, poked the material with a long stick and dragged the decomposed body of a man to the surface. The horror stricken girl called for assistance and John Wyant aided her in hauling the corpse from the water.

Owing to the advanced stage of decomposition the body was not identified until about noon Sunday when it was recognized as the form of Hamit N. Smith, 68 years old, a farm laborer who disappeared last Thursday.

Rhubarb Charlotte

Soak one and one-half ounces of gelatin in half a pint of water for ten minutes; dissolve gently and strain. Stew three-quarters of a pound of cut rhubarb with four ounces of sugar, one pint of water, the grated rind and juice of one lemon. Add the gelatin and two well beaten whites of eggs. Pour into a mold lined with lady fingers. When firm turn out quickly and carefully into a cold dish. Serve with a custard made of the yolks of eggs, two heaping tablespoonfuls of sugar, one-half pint of milk, and a few drops of vanilla.

For Grape Growers

The proper time to bag grapes is when the fruit is quite small, not larger than small peas, and ordinary paper bags should be used; the mouth of each should be well wrapped around the stem of the bunch and securely held in place by a string tied tight enough to hold without injuring. The grapes will thus be protected from the fungus and all insect enemies of fruit, and the bunches thus protected will be more perfect.

Egg Biscuits

Mix and sift well together one pint of flour, one-half teaspoon salt, one teaspoon of sugar, one teaspoon of baking powder. Beat one egg and one-half cup of milk, stir into the dry mixture, adding more milk, if necessary, to make a soft dough. Turn this out upon a baking board and knead with the hands for a moment. Cut into circles and place one inch apart on greased pans. Brush the tops with a little beaten yolk of an egg and bake in a very hot oven.

RAISED GRAHAM BISCUIT—Scald one pint of milk; dissolve in it one tablespoonful of butter, and one-half of a teaspoonful of salt; when cool add two tablespoonfuls of molasses and one-half of a yeast cake dissolved in a little warm water. Add sufficient white flour to make a thin batter, beat until smooth and set in a warm place until light. When spongy sift into the batter sufficient graham meal to make a soft dough, turn out on a floured board and knead until soft, elastic and no longer sticky. Return to the bowl, cover and set aside again; when the dough has fully doubled in size turn out carefully on the board, roll out one inch thick and cut into small biscuits. Place close together in a greased pan, brush over with milk and when risen bake in a quick oven.

In one year the beehives sent to market a product worth nearly as much as the barley crop; three times as much as the buckwheat crop; $6,000,000 greater than the rye crop and nearly $9,000,000 greater than the rice crop. All of the rice and buckwheat grown on an aggregate area of 2,126 1-3 square miles did not reach the value of the honey by $151,259.

LAWLESS RULER IS HELPED BY FRANCE

PARIS (Special).—That France should lend its aid toward keeping on his throne one of the most filthy, lewd and lawless monarchs in the world—Sultan Mulai Hafid, of Morocco—is a thorn in the flesh of many Frenchmen.

"It is simply a case of a savage tyrant and a poltroon soldiery face to face with a cluster of gallant tribesmen who have been goaded to revolt by cruelty and extortion." A French newspaper correspondent who had been there told me, in describing the conditions at Fez, the Sultan's capital. "And it is to maintain this tyrant on the throne that brave French officers are risking their lives, and because of whom the lives of Europeans in Morocco are in constant peril, that a large force has been dispatched to Fez. It is perfectly clear that there can never be any real peace there until Sultan Mulai Hafid is removed from power. The best thing for all concerned would be the return of Abdul Aziz. A talk with any tribesmen would prove this."

The siege of Fez, and his narrow escape from a terrible death at the hands of rebels, have not taught Mulai Hafid the lesson it should. The Sheriff of Merani was thrown into chains because he failed to make peace with Beni M'Fors, although he presented them with about $7,500. What really happened was the tribesmen refused to make peace on any terms and set upon the poor Sheriff and almost tore him to pieces, taking his money away from him meanwhile.

He was sent back to Fez without a rag on his back. This particular sheriff, he it known, was largely responsible for placing Mulai Hafid on the throne when Abdul Aziz was betrayed and overthrown.

Mulai Hafid long ago proved himself a moral pervert of the worst sort and, seriously speaking, a dangerous lunatic. In the midst of the siege of Fez he took it into his head, late one night, that he would marry his cousin, the daughter of his uncle Mulai Omar, who died a few months ago.

All the native dancers were awakened in the dead of night and forced to hasten to the Magzen where a great feast was in progress. The feast was a revel of the deepest purple. At its height, two wounded soldiers, who had assisted in holding off the Sultan's enemies, were lying moaning at the city's gate, begging to be taken in. One of them died before morning.

It is largely the belief here that ultimately Morocco will have to be divided among the powers. France, in that event, would get a portion. Germany, England and Spain the rest. French officials, however, declare that no such thing is even dreamed of.

Poor Artists Pay Big Sums for Their Pictures

A statistician has busied himself since the opening of the various salons, which are now going full blast, compiling an estimate of raw materials bought by artists annually in France.

At the various salons he estimates that at least 80,000 pictures are exposed each year. As many more, at the smallest estimate are rejected or not offered for exhibition. That would make 160,000 canvases. The average one would be about 6 feet square. With the wooden "chassis" such a canvas costs $5. After the picture is finished it must be framed, for, without a frame no salon would accept a painting, no matter how excellent. This would mean at least $20.

Next the art-critic statistician goes to paints. A tube of cadmium-yellow costs $1.25, one of yellow-ochre 12c, $1.25, one of yellow-ochre 12c, $1.25, one of yellow-ochre 12c, $1.25.

The average cost of paints on the canvas is put, therefore, at $10. He adds to this an average of four sittings by a model, at $1 per sitting—both low estimates—making another $4. The average painting costs, it is seen, about $40.

In materials alone, the pictures hung each year in the various French salons cost the "poor artists" $3,200,000.

The expert expresses himself amazed at his own figures. How the "poor artist" who spends 30 cents for an exceptionally rich dinner on his birthday scrapes up such a sum is beyond him.

Let me not say, he ends, that art is dead in France!

NO BACILLI.

City man who has been making a study of drinking water was looking at a stream over in Jersey the other day when he saw a farmer close by.

"This looks like mighty fine water here," he remarked, approaching the agricultural party. "Do you think there are any bacilli in it?"

"Well, I should say not!" was the positive rejoinder of Uncle Josh. "I've been fishin' here for nigh in fifteen years an' never got ther fust gosh-darned bite."

NOT ANNOYED.

"Does my steam whistle annoy you?" Inquired the man who had opened the new factory. "I suppose you have noticed the noise."

"Why, yes; I have noticed the noise," responded his neighbor. "But I'm a trifle deaf and I supposed it was the early robins."

RECOGNITION OF SEA SERPENTS.

Many Are Whales, Lines of Birds or Patches of Seaweed.

The sea serpent, at least in many modified forms, is an accepted scientific fact. It is coming to be generally believed that the many and oft recurring stories of the sea serpent cannot all be visions, pictures of the fancy.

Many of the supposed sea serpents are whales, lines of birds or patches of seaweed, but it is the consensus of opinion among conservative naturalists that there is some gigantic animal in the deep sea yet unknown to science which occasionally comes to the surface, showing portions of its form to the amazement of the mariner who may chance to be in the vicinity. As to the nature of those unknown animals we have several suggestions. Several eel-like sharks have been taken, long serpentine-like creatures that when large must be the sea serpents of the deep sea, and have convinced observers that the tales which have aroused the credulity of people are not without foundation, and that this mysterious realm conceals strange and gigantic forms which only rarely rise to the surface.

The eel-like sharks found are in some instances luminous, emitting a strange light over the entire surface—the light gives of the deep sea. Those animals of the deep sea, which live habitually in water just above the freezing point, in darkness that is profound, are among the most grotesque and singular of living beings.

The fishes, so far as known, are of small size; but this does not prove that there are no large animals in the deep sea. The method of taking deep sea forms precludes the capture of any except the small and very sluggish ones which lie in the deep ooze, but the time will come when a large dredge will be invented in which the monsters of the deep will be taken, as there are few naturalists who have given the subject any attention but believe there are in the greater depths some gigantic animal which is occasionally seen.

An interesting form of the sea serpent is the so-called ribbon fish, several specimens of which the writer has seen on the shores of Santa Catalina Island. This creature is one of the most beautiful of all fishes. It resembles a white or silver ribbon slashed with black. A long fin extends its entire length and over the head forms a number of plumes or pompons of a vivid red that in long specimens might easily be taken for a mane waving to and fro.

That this delicate ribbon fish attains a very large size is generally believed, as good sized specimens have been captured. Some years ago a fisherman was hauling a net on the coast of Scotland, when it was found that some heavy weight was holding the net back. Additional help was obtained, and a dozen men finally hauled in a monster fish, which was estimated to weigh eight hundred pounds. It was a gigantic ribbon fish, thirty feet or more in length, so long and heavy that it required the efforts of half a dozen men to carry it along the deck.

It was a veritable sea serpent, and extending from its head were tall deep red or scarlet plumes, like fins, which formed a sort of mane, frequently described as being seen on the typical sea serpent. If these fishes attain a length of thirty feet there is no reason why they may not exceed this, and it is very possible that some of the "sea serpents" which have been observed at various times were gigantic ribbon fishes, which came up from the deep sea and moved along with undulating motion at the surface. One of the most remarkable as well as gigantic animals of the deep sea is the giant squid—a favorite tidbit of the sperm whale.

The size to which these animals grow, their strength and their hideous appearance place them on a par with many of the weird and grotesque creatures of a past age. The squid undoubtedly attains a length of nearly, if not over, one hundred feet.

Prince Whan's Spirit Parrot.

Min Yung Whan, the Korean prince who killed himself as a protest against the Japanese protectorate, lived in a magnificent palace of his own, which came down to him by hereditary right, and was surrounded with an army of retainers, fighting men, slaves and women. He had a table of beaten silver, crusted with the most precious sapphires, and his state dress was so heavy with gorgeous jewels that it took two men to lift it over his head.

He carried with him on his travels a great white parrot, with rose-colored lining on his wings. The parrot's beak was perforated and on either side was set with priceless sapphires.

The ignorant natives believed that the great white parrot was Min Yung Whan's familiar spirit, and that when he died, Min Yung would die, too. When Min Yung Whan's body was found lying on the purple cushions of his couch, the great white parrot flew screaming out of the window and disappeared in the palm trees.

Science Finds a New Pillow.

A new industry, the making of mattresses and pillows of sponge, has been started in Florida. The sponge material is cleansed of all foreign matter by a scrubbing process in large tanks of water, then run through wringers and the drying continued by subjecting it to a cold-air blast. It is then shredded by machinery, sterilized and rendered odorless by chemical treatment and subjected to cold-air drying, when it is ready for use.

Something is going to be wrecked when you try to make a cart keep pace with an automobile.

WOMEN PROVE BAD COLLECTORS FOR HOSPITAL

Mrs. Belmont's Institution
Soon to Close Because of Lack of Funds.

NEW YORK—(Spl.)—Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont's "suffragist hospital," of Hempstead hospital, to give it its real name, is for sale. This is the hospital that Mrs. Belmont practically established and to which she has given more than $50,000.

The hospital is conducted throughout by women, the only men employed being the engineer and the ambulance driver. The superintendent, the internes, nurses and hospital staff are all women.

It was hoped that the hospital would give the world a splendid illustration of the breadth of woman's sphere. While the women proved adepts in the professional side of hospital work they failed utterly when it came to collecting bills and for this reason the institution will likely close its doors soon.

Mrs. Mary A. Morgan, the superintendent, made the following statement of the financial difficulties of the hospital:

"Some of our accounts have been due for 18 months. Though it actually costs $11.42 a week to care for patients sent to us by the township we have been charging only $10.50 a week for their care.

We were told by the overseers of the poor to submit statements of our charges, and did so, but we never have been paid."

Orchard Observations

Nothing grown on the farm pays better for the care bestowed upon it than the orchard.

As a rule sheep do no harm in the orchard, but they should not be allowed to have access to the young trees.

We never could see the wisdom of allowing the hogs to run in the orchard unless it is in cow peas or clover pasture.

The foolish man plants his orchard on low ground and the wise man steers the hills.

Are there any old apple trees in your orchard bearing undesirable fruit? Easy to graft good varieties upon them.

Cut out the useless brush in your old trees and give the sun a chance to reach every part of them.

Of course, the fruit must have more or less shade, but nature will take care of that after intelligent pruning has been done.

When the fruit buds come very thick most people take it as a sign of a big yield, but when fruit grows too thickly it must necessarily be very small.

A Will and a Way

"You can figure this idea out for yourself," says a local attorney. "I am one of the bits of common sense that now and then makes me doubt the omniscience of the law. A client of mine wanted me to draw up his will. He was an old man who had married for the second time, and he had grown children by his first wife. Also, he had a big bunch of property and his idea was to leave every cent he had to his second wife."

"It won't do at all," I advised him. "Your children are going to make an awful fight to break such a will, and they are likely to be successful."

"That's just what I want to do, answered my fussy client. 'I want my children to have a full share of my money. That's why I bequeath everything to my wife. I know that wife of mine. And it's going to be a lot easier for my children to break my will than it is for me to break hers.'"

Not Spoken In Jest

Spank! Spank! Spank! Tommy was undergoing material chastisement at the hands of his loving mother for eating the jam.

"Tommy," she said, when she had paused for breath, "do you know this hurts me more than it does you?"

And when Tommy was alone with his father he produced a square board he had concealed, and murmured:

"I thought that bit of wood would not do her hand any good."

KNOW THEM

A dried-up old colonel and a very sentimental young lady were together watching the sun set.

She inquired gushingly, "Oh, Colonel don't you love Longfellow's poems?"

"Can't say I do," he replied. "Never read them, in fact. Consider all poetry absolutely driven."

But she persisted, "surely you can not help admiring this verse of his out of 'The Day Is Done,' you know

"And all the night shall be filled with music,
And the cares which infest the day
Shall fold their tents like the Arabs
And as silently steal away."

"By Jove!" he exclaimed, "there is something in that. I know those Arab beggars—they would simply steal anything."

ESCAPED WITH HIS LIFE.

"Twenty-one years ago I faced an awful death," writes H. B. Martin Port Harrelston, S. C. "Doctors said I had consumption and the dreadful cough I had looked like it, sure enough. I tried everything, I could hear of, for my cough, and was under the treatment of the best doctor in Georgetown, S. C., for a year but could get no relief. Preserving Strawberries

Put unhalved berries in a colander and allow cold water to run through them to remove sand and harden berries; hull carefully. Crush one pint of berries in an enameled kettle and add one full cup of sugar, granulated preferred. Juice will be formed with such weight that berries will not float on top of juice when in the jar. Let crushed berries and sugar boil hard, shaking kettle to prevent sticking. Drop remainder of berries in boiling sirup and cook five minutes, skimming thoroughly. Have jars ready placed on cloth wrung out of cold water, and fill in berries with a silver spoon. Two boxes of strawberries when cooked will fill one quart Mason jar, which is enough to cook at one time.

Rhubarb Tartlets

Make some good short pastry and line some patty pans with it, choosing those of deep shape. Prick over the bottom of the pastry lining with a fork and bake the pastry cases till they are cooked through. Serve them hot or cold, filled with a stiff compote of cooked rhubarb and arranged on a lace paper dolly on a dish. Decorate the tartlets with little leaves and devices of cooking pastry. Hearts, diamonds, clubs and spades are suitable shapes when tartlets are for use as card party refreshments.

Washing Lace Curtains

To do up lace curtains nicely without stretchers, wash and starch without much rubbing or wringing and hang lengthways on the line. Place opposite scallops together and pull the whole curtain straight. The starch will stick the opposite halves together, no pins being needed. The curtains will be straight and even and no ironing will be necessary—only a pressing of the scallops.

Scaling Fish

The busy housewife will have no further dread of preparing fish for any size family if she will try dipping the fish in scalding water—the scales are then removed with no difficulty and much time saved.

Turning up hem in skirt—Have the person for whom skirt is intended put it on. Then take a yard stick, put the end of it on the floor, and have the person turn slowly around, while you mark it with tailor's chalk every little ways the number of inches it is desired from the floor. If two inches, mark it all the way around two inches up on the yard stick. Sew on the braid and turn up hem. I find that if a basting thread is put in around where it has been chalked, it helps a great deal, as the chalk is liable to get rubbed off and is not as plainly seen as a thread. This is a good way and is easily and quickly done.

Natural feather quills are seen in plain and sombre colors.

AS DIPLOMATS YANKEES MAKE POOR SHOWING

Lack Training and Fail to Make Proper Representation
Abroad.

BERLIN—(Special)—The sudden resignation of the present American ambassador to the Imperial German court, Dr. David J. Hill and the necessity of choosing a suitable successor for this important post have given rise to lively discussion concerning the characteristics of the American diplomatic service.

Since the news of Dr. Hill's departure from office was cabled from Washington several hundred articles have been printed in all sorts and conditions of German newspapers dealing with the different features of the American diplomatic service and the points in which it differs from the systems adopted by older powers of Europe.

Some of the comments printed on American diplomats are by no means flattering, and there are many grounds for thinking that the criticisms passed on the able men who represent the United States in foreign capitals are in many cases beside the mark.

At the same time, it is always useful to ascertain what foreign observers are saying about American customs and institutions, and it would be a mistake to ignore the comments made in Germany, on the efficiency of the American diplomatic service.

Here is a very characteristic utterance, typical of many others which have been written in the same tone and have followed the same line of criticism:

"One of the outstanding features of the American diplomatic service is the lack of professional training which marks the ambassadors and ministers selected to represent the United States in the capitals of other countries.

"In this respect the trans-Atlantic republic differs from all European powers with the single exception of France, which in late years also adopted the habit of choosing its diplomats from miscellaneous sources.

"There is no definite introductory career for an American ambassador, who may step straight from his own private residence or countinghouse or business establishment into one of the most important posts in an ancient European capital. There is not a single trained diplomat in the whole American service, so that foreigners are justified in describing American ambassadors as 'amateurs.'

"It is obvious that a system of this kind produces many weaknesses never found in the diplomatic services of those countries in which the diplomats are reared from their youth upwards to be efficient representatives of their native country.

"It is a great mistake to suppose that a diplomatist needs no special training for his calling. To be an efficient diplomatist is quite as difficult as to be an efficient company director or business organizer or to follow any other occupation of an intellectual nature.

"What would American business men say if some amateur, with no knowledge of practical commercial affairs, were suddenly taken out of his own sphere and placed at the head of one of the great trusts or business organizations of the United States? What would be said if a man who had been a diplomatist all his life were suddenly called upon to control and direct the destiny of some huge industrial or commercial enterprise? Every practical American business man would say that it would be such a dangerous experiment that there would be a hundred chances to one against a fair prospect of success. Yet this is the system on which American ambassadors are chosen to fill the most important posts of the American diplomatic service, without knowledge, without training and without any experience whatever.

"How the great trans-Atlantic republic can expect, in these circumstances, that its diplomatists shall do its diplomatic business efficiently is a mystery to all impartial observers of American affairs.

The fact that American diplomatists are untrained amateurs leads them to be regarded with a kind of contempt or at least doubt, by the trained diplomatists of other countries, who look upon them rather as interlopers and aliens.

"It is always difficult for a man to transact business efficiently unless he commands the complete respect of those with whom he comes in contact in the course of his calling, so that the tendency among some diplomatists to look down upon American ambassadors and attaches operates to the disadvantage of the United States."

Here is a still more severe criticism:

"The entire American diplomatic service may be described as second rate. Its members are not selected for any particular qualities which fit them for their posts, but for political and personal reasons.

"To begin with, the salaries of the American ambassadors are so small and inadequate that the important posts can only be filled by men of considerable wealth. This feature alone eliminates efficiency and places plutocracy in its place.

"Moreover, America does not even select the best of her rich men to be her ambassadors abroad. If her industrial magnates and leaders of commerce could be induced to come abroad to act as ambassadors, they would of course inspire that respect which is due to their marvellous achievements in their previous spheres of activity.

As a general rule, however, American diplomatists are men of comparatively obscure achievements who are pitched into their posts owing to their monetary means and the political influence which they hereby command in their own country. It is quite clear that this diminishes the general prestige of the American diplomatic corps."

The criticisms of the American diplomatic service printed in connection with Dr. Hill's resignation in the German press have been widely copied in the newspapers of Russia, Austria and other European countries, with the result that these unfavorable opinions of the United States foreign representatives are being scattered broadcast on this side of the Atlantic.

When Being Photographed

BE natural.

Try and keep your usual appearance as much as possible.

For instance, the woman who usually wears her hair straight need not think it necessary to arrange it in curls and puffs for the occasion.

A simple dress is the best choice, as it does not grow old-fashioned as soon as a much-trimmed gown.

Checks, plaids and all figured materials should be avoided.

As a rule materials, with a sheen yield excellent results.

The greatest difficulty in being photographed is to acquire a natural expression.

A fawning smile appears in place of a pleasant expression, and stern, compressed lips emerge when the only desire is not to appear too self-conscious.

One woman who makes an excellent photographic subject says that she recites her favorite poem all the time she is posing in order to prevent self-conscious thoughts.

The main secret of success is certainly to avoid self-consciousness in any form, and it is well to concentrate the mind on some pleasing thought, and thus forget the ordeal of posing for one's photograph.

Call me, mate, at seven bells.

I'm soured, but I need a shine!

Abe Flanagan, hardly able seaman, warbled his favorite ditty as, in the dim watches of the night, he held the nose of the Waldorf Astoria 62 degrees centigrade soubywest. Little recked he what was brewing.

The turbid waters of the China sea broke in musical broken china against the vessel's sides, and a school of porpoises chimed that peculiar haunting chiny from which they derive their name. It was a night for action. The red dog star of the east gleamed down on Abe Flanagan menacingly. No, little recked he what was brewing!

Suddenly, with a startled cry, he sniffed. He sniffed again, with another startled cry. Sniff, sniff! He rose to his feet prepared to desert the wheel if another sniff convinced him. Sniff! Now he knew what was brewing.

With a wild cry he dashed below. 'Twas the grog that was brewing!

Aids Nature

The great success of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in curing weak stomachs, wasted bodies, weak lungs, and obstinate and lingering coughs, is based on the recognition of the fundamental truth that "Golden Medical Discovery" supplies Nature with body-building, tissue-repairing, muscle-making materials, in condensed and concentrated form. With this help Nature supplies the necessary strength to the stomach to digest food, build up the body and thereby throw off lingering obstinate coughs. The "Discovery" re-establishes the digestive and nutritive organs in sound health, purifies and enriches the blood, and nourishes the nerves—in short establishes sound vigorous health.

If your dealer offers something "just as good," it is probably better FOR HIM—it pays better. But you are thinking of the cure not the profit, so there's nothing "just as good" for you. Say so.

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, in Plain English; or, Medicine Simplified, 1008 pages, over 700 illustrations, newly revised up-to-date Edition, paper-bound, sent for 21 one-cent stamps, to cover cost of mailing only. Cloth-bound, 51 stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

WOULD TAKE NO CHANCES.

Four-year-old-Elinor took dinner at her grandparents' home. There were warm biscuits on the table, and she took the last biscuit. Grandpa, wishing to tease her, said: "Elinor, give me that biscuit. I want it to tease grandma." Elinor's reply came in a firm tone. "Oh, tease me or wif a cracker; I want this biscuit to eat."

THOUGHT IT A FABLE.

Using Nature's Means

Dr. Hurty in a recent address said: "It was man's duty to study Nature's laws through a knowledge of which he may keep well. Most of us rush headlong through life without any regard whatever for Nature's laws. In that we are impractical, extravagant, foolish. We cannot hope to live to old age if we do not follow Nature's laws."

That Nature is the sure and safe physician has been abundantly proven. Her resources, when aided and wisely directed by Nature doctors are unbounded and accomplish cures hitherto unknown.

Little will you wonder at the confidence reposed in the Spaulding Osteopaths when you know of their praiseworthy work and how Osteopathy successfully treats all conditions of ill-health attempted by medical methods, and many so-called surgical or incurable cases they have abandoned.

All those who have given their treatment a fair trial regard it the best investment of their life and will verify these statements. Ask them.

ESCAPED WITH HIS LIFE.

"Twenty-one years ago I faced an awful death," writes H. B. Martin, Port Harrelston, S. C. "Doctors said I had consumption and the dreadful cough I had looked like it, sure enough. I tried everything, I could hear of, for my cough, and was under the treatment of the best doctor in Georgetown, S. C., for a year but could get no relief. A friend advised me to try Dr. King New Discovery. I did so, and was completely cured. I feel that I owe my life to this great throat and lung cure." It's positively guaranteed for coughs, colds, and all bronchial affections 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free at the Owl Drug store.

Crime of Opium Victims.

The extent to which the narcotic habit prevails in the French navy was illustrated by the proceedings of a court-martial at Brest. The defendants were half a dozen seamen of ordinary rating, who were charged with a considerable number of robberies. All the men were victims of the opium or the other habit, or both combined, and were in the habit of bemuddling themselves daily with these drugs and the robberies had been committed to gratify their passion. Severe sentences were passed.

Longevity of Chameleons.

Chameleons can be kept alive for years by making a frame to fit over a plant in a flowerpot and covering it with mosquito netting, which must be long enough to tie with a string about the pot. Keep the pot in the sunniest window and water the plant every day through the netting. You will be surprised to see how eagerly the little creatures will drink the running water after they get over their fear. Set a wire flytrap for flies, which you can liberate under the netting. The chameleons will not be backward about helping themselves.

"CRUELTY TO AUTO CLUTCHES"

No matter how well-designed and smooth-acting a clutch may be, the personnel equation enters largely into its operation, and if not handled properly, the most perfect mechanism of this kind may give results no better than those obtained from an old and worn out clutch. The ordinary friction clutch is not automatic and controlling pedal must never be released suddenly when the motor is running. A sudden engagement of the clutch may, at the time seem to do no more than cause the car to "rear up on its hind legs," but strains will surely be induced in the motor and running gear that will eventually make a worn-out machine of one that should, if properly used, give several more years of active service.

Furthermore, continued abuse of the clutch may serve to strain the shafts that the two members will be thrown out of alignment, thus preventing a uniform distribution of the friction and pressure. This may result in a "jammed" up clutch, or one which cannot be disengaged, and it is evident in such a case that the driver will be unable to control the car properly and that the passages and machine are in great danger if the automobile is run under these conditions. Although rare, such accidents have occurred a sufficient number of times to render a warning of this kind worthy of notice on the part of the carelessly-inclined driver.—The August Outing.
